Cliffview Resort Offers Easy Online Booking for Corporate Retreats

Campton, KY, August 3, 2016 – Cliffview Resort in Kentucky's Red River Gorge is now taking reservations online for its two new lodges, The Lakeside and The Retreat, both perfect for corporate retreats.

The new lodges offer everything a business team needs for productive meetings, teambuilding activities, relaxing and recharging. This natural escape in the Daniel Boone National Forest is just 2 1/2 hours or less from Lexington, Louisville and Cincinnati metro areas.

Cliffview Resort combines charming rustic elegance with modern amenities like Wi-Fi access and a heliport. Also on property is the original Cliffview Lodge, which has a fully equipped conference room with adjustable easels, podium, wireless microphone and sound system, projector screen, and dry erase board.

Team members can all stay under one roof in luxury accommodations. Your choice of lodge can comfortably sleep 24 – 32 adults in double rooms with private bathrooms and our newest lodges feature state-of-the-art kitchens, dining areas, comfortable great rooms, high-tech theater rooms, game rooms, and outdoor hot tubs.

For unwinding together, coworkers can hike nature trails, canoe, fish, or enjoy an evening campfire. For the ultimate team adventure, the onsite Zipline tour offers unparalleled views of the Gorge at 55 mph from 300 feet up.

A Proctor and Gamble team leader recently called Cliffview "a fantastic place for our group," saying, "I appreciate the details! We will be back!" Reviews on TripAdvisor earned Cliffview Resort the Certificate of Excellence for the past three years.
